Qualifications

Bachelor of Psychology (Hons.)

Master of Organisational Psychology

Grad Cert. Project

Management

Aimee has a Masters Degree in Organisational Psychology complimented by a Graduate Certificate in Project Management.

Aimee's professional expertise includes project and change management, strategy planning, communications, marketing, brand, workshop facilitation, 360 degree analysis and coaching. She is adept at working with a client to quickly identify their needs, map out of a plan and deliver creative, targeted solutions.

In her professional experience Aimee has delivered complex projects to high-end organisations, sometimes on a global scale. As a Project Manager Aimee has delivered global business transformation projects with a heavy emphasis on people structures, process and technology change. She is used to partnering at a senior level to identify strategic business objectives, identify project priorities and drive the delivery of project goals to successful completion. Her experience is built on a foundation of strategic Human Resources interventions which include the delivery of reward and recognition, performance management and recruitment systems.

Aimee is also experienced in the delivery of behavioural change management outcomes. Aimee draws from her repertoire of behavioural change knowledge to design organisational change interventions, to design positive workplace cultures and to embed sustainable long-term change.

At Consulting For Change, Aimee brings the benefit of her experience to the social enterprise sector. She has made a conscious decision to focus her passion on projects or organisation that aim to achieve positive social impact.

Aimee is a passionate social entrepreneur and volunteer. The causes she cares most about are youth, mental health (incl. suicide prevention) and non-traditional education pathways.
